

When you're done ...

- Don't forget to check your answers with those in the back of the textbook.
- Not sure if your answers are close enough? Compare with a classmate or ask the instructor.
- Getting the wrong answers or stuck on a problem? Re-read the section and try the problem again. If you're still stuck, work with a classmate or go to your instructor's office hours.
- It's normal to find some parts of some problems difficult, but if all the problems are giving you grief, be sure to talk with your instructor or advisor about it. They might be able to suggest strategies or support services that can help you succeed.
- Make a list of key ideas or processes to remember from the section. The "Do you know?" questions can be a good starting point.

When you're done ...

- Don't forget to check your answers with those in the back of the textbook.
- Not sure if your answers are close enough? Compare with a classmate or ask the instructor.
- Getting the wrong answers or stuck on a problem? Re-read the section and try the problem again. If you're still stuck, work with a classmate or go to your instructor's office hours.
- It's normal to find some parts of some problems difficult, but if all the problems are giving you grief, be sure to talk with your instructor or advisor about it. They might be able to suggest strategies or support services that can help you succeed.
- Make a list of key ideas or processes to remember from the section. The "Do you know?" questions can be a good starting point.

When you're done ...

- Don't forget to check your answers with those in the back of the textbook.
- Not sure if your answers are close enough? Compare with a classmate or ask the instructor.
- Getting the wrong answers or stuck on a problem? Re-read the section and try the problem again. If you're still stuck, work with a classmate or go to your instructor's office hours.
- It's normal to find some parts of some problems difficult, but if all the problems are giving you grief, be sure to talk with your instructor or advisor about it. They might be able to suggest strategies or support services that can help you succeed.
- Make a list of key ideas or processes to remember from the section. The "Do you know?" questions can be a good starting point.